Guidance Notes

It is your responsibility at the beginning of the tenancy to note any specific discrepancies on the inventory that you do not agree with i.e. contents or descriptions. If no such additional notes are made at the start of the tenancy then the inventory will be deemed as accepted as read.

This inventory provides a fair and accurate record of the contents of the premises. Items are visually identified by a detailed description; however the clerk is not an expert in materials for example metals, woods, indoor and outdoor plants or antiques. Nor is the clerk a qualified surveyor.

Disclaimer:

We cannot undertake to move heavy items, access lofts, high level cupboards, basements, cellars or similar. Items left in the above mentioned areas, which have not been inventoried, are the sole responsibility of the owner or purchaser.

Electrical appliances and other such similar items in commercial properties will not be tested by the clerk and are the responsibility of the owner or purchaser.
